Piperonal (Item No. 18710) is an analytical reference standard that is categorized as a List I chemical with the Drug Enforcement Administration in the United States. It is a potential precursor in the synthesis of compounds containing methylenedioxybenzyl groups. The physiological and toxicological properties of this compound are not known. This product is intended for research and forensic applications.

Reference